

Quiz 1 CISC 105
06/13/2005

Name: _____

A. Matching (14 points)

- |  |                 |
|--|-----------------|
| _____ 1. The statement <code>int number;</code> is an example of this    |                 |
| _____ 2. A detailed set of instructions that halts in finite time        | A. Program      |
| _____ 3. The symbols used to write a program                             | B. double       |
| _____ 4. A fast programming language used by engineers and us!           | C. Syntax error |
| _____ 5. The program that generates an executable from a text file.      | D. Syntax       |
| _____ 6. The type of error you get when you divide by zero               | E. Variable     |
| _____ 7. The meaning of a programming statement                          | F. C            |
| _____ 8. The type of error you get when you forget a semicolon           | G. Comments     |
| _____ 9. An algorithm written in a language for a computer to understand | H. Compiler     |
| _____ 10. The statement <code>x = 2;</code> is an example of this        | I. Fatal error  |
| _____ 11. A placeholder for a piece of data                              | J. Declaration  |
| _____ 12. A real number with a decimal has this type                     | K. Algorithm    |
| _____ 13. A word like <code>int</code> or <code>double</code>            | L. Assignment   |
| _____ 14. Describe the code at a higher-level in English                 | M. Type         |
|  | N. Semantics    |