Homework 4:

Due Monday at midnight

You should work with your web partner on this homework.

Create a folder called HWK4. I'm assuming you're working on your web site, and thus you should use a web page you have created for your web site. However, if you prefer, you can create a separate web page just for this homework. Either way, you will need to create a style sheet and link it to your web page (all of the following styles should be added within a separate stylesheet).

Add the following:

1. Add a div tag around some elements in your web page. Make sure at least one of the elements is a paragraph. Give the div an id.
2. Style that div by maybe giving it a different background color and a border and a width.
3. Style the paragraph (and only the paragraph inside the div) with a different background color and font color.
4. Add two more div tags around other elements in the web page. Make both of these belong to the same class.
5. Style both of these divs by adding a background image to both. Again, add a border.
6. Add 3 span tags around different words or phrases throughout the web page. Make all three belong to the same class.
7. Style the class by making the font bold and italic.
8. Use float to position the div you created in 1 on your web page.
9. Add an image to your web page and give it an id.
10. Use float to position the image on your web page.
11. Create a paragraph and give it an id (or create a new div with an id). Now position it absolutely.
12. Create a paragraph and give it an id (or create a new div with an id). Now position it using fixed, using the same coordinates as the paragraph you positioned absolutely. Notice the difference between fixed and absolute.
13. Use the z-index to change which images is in front.

To turn in: Upload HWK4 and turn in the URL via sakai.

Continue working on your Web site project.
