Challenge: Tables

(worth 5 challenge points!)

For challenges:

You should upload your (VALIDATED!!!) web page to a server and submit the URL on Canvas under challenges-tables.  You should also email your TA and me (we are keeping a separate file for challenges, so emailing allows us to enter the challenge points into the separate file)

For this challenge, you'll be creating 3 (well, technically 4 if you count the table inside of the table) tables.  You should most definitely validate your web page before turning it in.
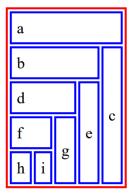

For the following tables, I put the following CSS in my head section (so the head section of my html page looked EXACTLY like this:)

```
<head>
        <meta charset = "utf-8">
        <title> Table Challenge </title> <style>
           td {
              border-style:solid;
              border-width: 2px;
              border-color:blue;
              padding: 5px;
              margin: 2px;
                        }
           table {
              border-style:solid;
              border-width: 2px;
              border-color:red;
                        }
        </style>

    </head>
```

1: Using rowspan and colspan, create a table that looks like this in your browser (and validates!)

2: Using rowspan and colspan, create a table that looks like this in your browser (and validates!)

```
+-------------------------+
| +---------------------+ |
| | a                   | |
| +-------------------+ | |
| | b               | | |
| +---------------+ | | |
| | d           | | | | |
| +---------+ | | | | | |
| | f     | | | | | | |
| +-----+ | | | | g | |e| |c| |
| |h| |i| | | | | | |
+-------------------------+
```

3: Using rowspan, colspan, and a table inside of a table create a table that looks like this in your browser (and validates!) Note: for the Description, Qty, Price, and Account Note, I used <th></th> tags.
